

Federico Salas
Oboe

Born in San Juan, Argentina, he began his musical studies at the age of 15 at the National University of San Juan, graduating with a degree in "Musical Interpretation". In 2012 he moved to the city of Buenos Aires to continue his studies at the National University of the Arts, graduating with a degree in Musical Arts.

He was a member of the Orchestral Academy of the Instituto Superior de Arte del Teatro Colón and the Orquesta Académica de Buenos Aires. He attended master classes with Maestros Thomas Indermulhe, Christoph Hartmann, Lucas Macías Navarro, Christian Smith, Gordon Hunt, Ivan Podlyomov, Alex Klein, among others. He participated in the 13th edition of the Festival de Musica de Santa Catarina - FEMUSC (Brazil).

In 2016 he joined the Orquesta Sinfónica de la Universidad Nacional de San Juan by competition, as second oboe. Currently, he is a soloist and principal oboe player in the oboe department of the UNSJ.